DOES NOT CONDEMN FLIRTING IN CHURCH

Chicago Pastor Glad of Any Attraction to Bring Young People to Church.

Chicago, Oct. 11.-Flirting can be carried on in church to good advantage, according to a statement issued by the Reverend M. B. Williams, chairman of the Committee on Sabbath Observance of the Rock River Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church.

"There is no reason why young perquaintance from behind hymn books," de clared Mr. Williams. "We are glad to have them come to church on any pretext. Flirting is as good an excuse as That is how I first became interested in the church.

"Frivolity during religious services is to be expected of Americans. But that some good is accomplished, even under these ditions, is indisputable.

"The expectation of 'seeing a young woman home' has brought many a boy to church for the first time. Amid the love-making there is a chance for the religious influence to steal in.

CHAIRMAN COWHERD ENCOURAGED Laughs at Stories to the Effect That Democrate Have Given Up.

Mr. Cowherd was in New York two days last week in confer-New York two days last week in conference with Democratic leaders and goes again at this time for a similar purpose. He expressed much amusement at the story printed in the New York Tribune this morning under a Washington date in which it is said the Democrats have given up the fight entirely, having absolutely no hone of electing Judge Parker.

The writer's story made use of Mr. Cowherd's name incidentally and told of a very startling condition of affairs, a condition calculated to make the blood run cold very starting condition of affairs, a condi-tion calculated to make the blood run cold in the veins of the most ardent Parker en-thusiast. The chairman of the Democratic Congressional Committee, however, said he had been the object of some such story periodically in the columns of the Tribune. Usually there has been absolutely no foundation for them, as in the present instance.

The Tribune story points out at length what Democrats must do to win, and then shows how they cannot do it.

It is admitted by conservative Democrats that a great deal of work must be done in order to seat judge Parker in the White House, but far from being discouraged, they are working enthusiastically for their candidate, and are very sanguine of success. hairman Cowherd said to-day that he had every reason for feeling encourage over the Democratic outlook generally.

DESIRES DECISION

Senator Burton Will Ask Monday That Case Be Advanced on the Docket.

APPEAL BRIEF IS PREPARED.

Kansan Sets Forth That Cause of Such Importance to Government Should Be Tried in Highest Tribunal.

Washington, Oct. II - Neither Senator Surton nor his attorney was in the Sueme Court to-day, and his case did not come before that body. It had been un-derstood that Attorney W. H. Rossington of Topeka would make a motion that the case be advanced, so that the court could dispose of it before Congress con-

It was said that Mr. Rossington would make the motion next Monday, and that he had so notified Solicitor General Hoyt, who will look after the Government's side of the case. Later the case will ome before the court through arguments n a petition of certiorari, "requiring he United States Circuit Court of Apcals for the Eighth Judicial Circuit to ertify to the United States Supreme Court for its review and determination the writ of error taken to that court by said Burton."

BURTON'S APPEAL The brief filed by Burton's attorneys ensists of nineteen printed pages. After giving an extended statement of the case consists of nincteen printed pages. After giving an extended statement of the case and the exceptions of the writ of error, the brief says:.

This is the first time that this most important statute of the United States, deeply affecting, as it does, the official action and conduct of members of Congress, has ever been up for judical consideration and interpretation.

The gravity of this and cognate questions arising at the threshold of this cause in a first proceeding to enforce a statute which has lain dormant for forty years, the existence of which it is fair to assume, was largely unknown either to legislators or lawvers, emphasizes the suggestion that its just and final interpretation enght to rest with the highest court of the land. It is of capital importance, not only to the defendant, but to all members of the legislative branch of the Federal Government, that this question should be first and fully considered and finally determined in this court.

"Its gravity appears in that it involves not merely the liberty of the defendant, not merely the liberty of the defendant, not merely the unestion as to whether he shall be muleted by a considerable fine, but because of the enormous consequences following conviction, such judgment and sentence resulting in the vaccation of the high office of the Senator and forever disqualifying him from holding any position of honor, trust, or profit under the Federal Government.

"The fact, also, that this statute and its interpretation so importantly involve the Congress of the United States furnishes additional reason, if necessary, that its primary consideration and determination should be in this court."

JURISDICTION.

JURISDICTION. In support of the contention that the harges against Burton should have been ried in Washington instead of St. Louis charges against Burton should have been tried in Washington instead of St. Louis, because of the fact that the Rialto Company made its payments to the Senator in this city, the brief says:

"If such payments as we contend were made and completed as to said four counts by the receipt of the several ehecks in the city of Washington and the negotiation of the same with the Riggs National Bank, which took the check and paid for it by immediate credit, then the United States Court for the Eastern Division of the Eastern Division of the Eastern Division of the Eastern United States Court for the Eastern Division of the Eastern Division of the Eastern Division of the Eastern United States Court for the Eastern Division of the Country and the rendition of judgment thereon, against the protest and objection and exception of your petitioner, made in a timely fashion at the trial and immediately at the conclusion of the rights of the defendant under the sixth amendment of the Constitution of the United States."

WOULD HAVE MORE ROOMS FOR OFFICERS OF ARMY.

Paymaster General Dodge Says That

Arrangements Made in 1870 Are No Longer Adequate.

Washington, Oct. 11 - Army officers will ave more commodious quarters if the recemmendation of Paymaster General Dodge, United States Army, in his annual report, made public, are followed.

At present army officers receive a monthly allowance for rooms. This helps out their slender pay a good deal, but not nough to convince General Corbin that a Lieutenant can support a wife without pri rate means. A Second Lleutenant is entiled to two rooms at $12 each, and the size f quarters increases to six rooms for a Major General. Paymaster General Dodge recommends the adoption of the following chedule: Second Lieutenant, two rooms; First Lieutenant, three rooms; Captain, four Lieutenant, three rooms; Captain, four rooms; Major, five rooms; L'eutenant Colonel, six rooms; Colonel, seven rooms; Brigadler General, eight rooms; Major General, nine rooms. Naval officers on shore duty have allowances similar to army officers, and any change made will affect the navy, too. Paymaster General Dodge says:

affect the navy, too. Paymaster General Dodge says:

The prevailing rates for officers of the army were fixed by the law of July 15 1870. There has, therefore, been no increase in pay for thirty-four years, while, as shown above, the rate per room for commutation of quarters has actually been reduced one-third during that period. At the same time the cost of living, especially in the item of house rent, has very largely increased, particularly in all of the larger cities. A Major General's commutation allowance of $12 would not pay the rent of a modern flat in any of our lare cities, and a conveniently located house would be entirely out of the question.

JANZOW'S SUIT

tigating Committee.

BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT. Altenberg, Mo., Oct. 11.-This has been gala day for the little town of Altenberg and to-night the population, increased from 200 to 500 within twenty-four hours, is agog in contemplation of the biggest and only event of six years, the conference of the Western District of the German Evangelical Lutheran Church of Misourl, Ohio and other States, which begins to-morrow afternoon Almost the sole topic discussed at the general store counter, the hotel and in the little, scattered, old-fashioned residences is the Reverend Charles L. Janzow's case. The townspeople are divided for and against the pastor of the Bethlehem Evangelical Church of St. Louis, who is expected here to-morrow.

Doctor Janzow spent eight years at Frohna, eight miles west of here, and he has with him in the fight the country people. But Altenberg is the center of a factional controversy, while the gathering delegates are unquestionably against Doctor Janzow for bringing the suit against Just when these will be considered has not been decided, but probably not until after the formality of appointing a committee. The delegates are reticent and answer evasively, but it is certain that Doctor Janzow has friends among the assembling pastors, and a warm fight against severe discipline is expected. So isolated is Altenberg that many of the farmers in this region had not heard of the Janzow suit before the arrival of the delegates, and they picked up the details with astonishment and eagerness. Until the new river division of the Frisco ran its first train through Wittenberg, six miles east, June 1, some had never seen a train. The community is entirely German, and is likely to remain so, for a stranger can hardly buy land at any price. There is no telegraph station nere. Altenberg is the cradle of the German Evangelical Synod. From this little town in the hills sprang the new large body extending over the entire United States and part of Canada. The town, with a group of other small places in the immediate vicinity, was established in 1809 by a colony of Lutherans direct from Germany. Six boatloads started, but one was lost at sea. The other five landed at New Orleans, and the pilgrims, headed by the Reverend Doctor Steffen, sailed up the Mississippi River to St. Louis. They remained there only a short time, coming 106 miles south and establishing Altenberg. Wyehberg, Tresten, Hearline, which has since been abandoned, and Seelitz.

The sturdy Germans suspended their leader of cupilicity, and one night he was deported across the Mississippi fint Illinois, where he died shortly after. At least three of the original settlers, now gray and bent with age, will attend the conference to-morrow in the little church of native sione which was erected in 1848. They are Theodore Estel, the miller at Wittenberg; Chris Kuehnerta and Charles Groeh. The first Lutheran college in America, a little log structure, still stands near Altenberg, although showing signs of decay. The church where the conference is to be hel delegates are unquestionably against Doctor Janzow for bringing the suit against eighteen members of his congregation. President Jacob J. Bernthal of St. Louis arrived this morning from St. Louis with about 136 delegates. He does not discuss the case as freely as before and says that nothing can be given out until the conference takes action. However, there has been some preconcerted action, as scaled instructions are already in the hands of one of the delegates.
